HOUSE STOPS CRITICISM OF PRESIDENT FLORAL PARADE WORK STARTED

Atcherley Tells Why He Suspects Wayson

AFTERNOON SESSION.
"Have you ever seen a case of leprosy which has been cured?" asked Judge Andrade.

"Yes, certainly," answered Atcherley. "I can show such cures, although, of course, they are private cases."

Now the examination wandered to specific cases of leprosy among Dr. Atcherley's cases in the Kalia station, pictures of which were produced and the points of improvement under treatment pointed out. Incidentally Atcherley referred, disparagingly, to Nastine and other treatments, saying that there was a striking contrast between the hopelessness of the patients on Molokai, who had been treated with these and without avail, and the hopefulness of his own patients.

"Did you feel aggrieved at the attitude of the Board of Health toward you?" asked Magoon.
"I certainly did; the resolution was most unreasonable and most insulting," answered Atcherley, who went on to explain at length that it appeared obvious that he would not be allowed to treat the Kalia lepers unless he disclosed his remedy. He thought it was quite right to give out his remedy, but in this case, he knew, the Board would merely take his remedy and use it without giving him credit.

"I did not propose to be robbed of it," he said. "If I had gotten the credit by demonstrating cures of a certain number or percentage of cases, and I had completed all the investigations I had in mind, then I would have no objections to disclosing the remedy. If I could get a certificate from the Board that I would get the credit, I would disclose it at once."

Atcherley further said that Wallace should have the credit of having fallen upon the curative treatment. He himself claimed the credit for the "causation" and for the scientific application of the Wallace remedies.

"If I had been a charlatan, suspected of imposing on the public, the conditions could not have been more rigid," said Atcherley. "They were most insulting, and got into the newspapers, too."

"Do you feel exalted about the matter?" asked Magoon.

"I don't think I feel any undue pride about it," answered Atcherley. He said, in answer to further questions, that he had told of his remedy only to those who applied for information. Sinclair, he said, was anxious to impress on the lay mind that his "causation" pamphlet was nonsense.

Magoon proceeded to enumerate the symptoms on which the experts had based their conclusion that Atcherley

Freight Service To Coast

Beginning Saturday next, the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company will maintain a regular fast freight service between Honolulu and San Francisco. The Pleiades will sail next Saturday and every twenty-eight days thereafter.

Heretofore the American-Hawaiian Company has not entered the local field seriously, as far as fast freight is concerned, not having had the ships available for the purpose. The newly-chartered Pleiades will be used exclusively for the Honolulu-San Francisco run and will, under no circumstances, touch at any other ports. A regular schedule will be published and maintained, so that shippers will know on just what day they can expect a steamer.

The Pleiades, on her next trip, will take a large consignment of fresh pineapples and bananas to the Pacific Coast. The company will, as far as she is concerned, make a specialty of fresh fruit and other destructible freight which demands rapid transportation across the water.

Petrie To Run Parade

T. H. Petrie of Castle & Cooke is the man in charge of the Floral Parade for 1909.

Mr. Petrie was selected by the Promotion Committee and after considerable urging has taken the task, which is no small one. He will begin the good work immediately and it is expected that more cars and more elaborately decorated floats will appear in the parade of February 22nd than ever before.

Members of Harmony and Excelsior Lodges and visiting brothers, be sure and attend the meeting this evening. It will be an interesting one.

Frear Tells Chamber About Amendments

"The principal feature of the bill to amend the Organic Act has to do with the amendment of the land laws," said Governor Frear in an address before the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon.

"I must plead guilty to having drafted the greater part of this bill, though I went over it with Judge Hallon, Secretary Garfield, and others."

"It was my aim to put in those things which seemed to be of vital importance and to eliminate matters on which there might be a decided difference of opinion."

"The first section, as you know, amends Section 5 of the Organic Act, which extends to Hawaii all the Constitution of the United States except two sections. This bill provides that certain laws of the United States shall not be applicable to Hawaii, including court practice, the holding of land by aliens and others."

"You will remember that in July there was some discussion of the legality of the appointment of Dr. Cofer to the presidency of the Board of Health, being a Federal official. My opinion in the matter was upheld by the Washington authorities, but there is no telling when the matter might be brought up again by some lawyer. The object of this section is to settle the matter definitely."

"The second section raises the salary of legislators from $400 to $600. Two years ago when Congress appropriated $30,000 for expenses of the Legislature, it ordered that no salary should be paid for an extra session. This is embodied."

"The third section amends the provision that appropriations shall be made biennially by the Legislature. Suppose that it should be necessary to call an extra session to appropriate money to piece out, could it do so if that word biennial means anything? Does it mean that appropriations can be made for two years only?"

"The fourth section amends the section of the Organic Act relating to bonds. It does not change the law with regard to the limitation in the issuance of bonds. But it removes the question as to whether the Territory can refund bonds issued since the establishment of the Territorial Government. We are in a position, possibly, to refund $1,000,000 4 per cent bonds. Do we want to be certain that we can lawfully do so?"

Grand Jury Investigate

United States District Attorney Brockens was again on hand this morning attending the Federal Grand Jury.

One of the first things to be investigated by the Grand Jury was the agitation that has been going on in connection with the so-called high-wage campaign. The threats that have been made are of a nature that continued unbridled are in danger of bringing about bloodshed. The Grand Jury will go to the bottom of the whole affair and bring the persons responsible to an accounting.

COUNTY EMPLOYEES PROBABLY HAVE TO WAIT FOR PAY

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this evening the pay rolls of the employees of the City and County for the first half of the present month will be submitted. While the employees undoubtedly are longing for their pay, it is not likely that they will have it in their pockets for a while yet, as it is generally believed that the Supervisors will decline to pass any resolutions involving the disbursement of funds before the appropriation bill has passed, and this cannot come up for final passage over the veto of the Mayor before next Thursday night.

TWO FRIENDS AND A FIGHT

Aloy Is Fined $15 By Judge De Bolt This Morning

The story of two friends who got into a fight over a friendly card game, which finally culminated in one of them cutting the other with a weapon "between a butcher knife and a cleaver," was told in Judge De Bolt's courtroom this morning by Deputy Attorney General Whitney when the case of Aloy was called.

It seems that Aloy, a Chinaman, and a friend of his were engaged in a perfectly harmless card-game and got into a dispute over the turn of a pasteboard. After quite a lengthy, as well

WRECK OF AEON HAS BEEN DISPOSED OF

Buyer Cables Local Man
News of The Purchase

Wreckers who have been planning to visit the steamer Aeon, which went ashore at Christmas Island last year, will have to change their plans. The wreck of the ill-fated steamer has been purchased by Frank Coffee and a man named Duffy.

E. A. McInerney, a warm personal friend of Coffee, this morning received a cable from Sydney, Australia, informing him of the purchase, and asking him to warn wreckers to keep away from the stranded steamer. There is supposed much valuable

FRIGHTFUL IS THE CASTAWAYS' ORDEAL

Japanese Tell of Rescue
From Hermes
Island

"Since we were on the lonesome island, I have begun to know the living God, who helped us out of the trouble."—Asanoma.

"We had a terrible time; but through the kindness of the captain of the Florence Ward we escaped death."—Kikuchi.

"We were dying at the time when we sighted the steamer in the distance."—Shono.

The above statements were made by the three Japanese who were rescued from Hermes Island and brought to Honolulu by Captain Plitz of the Florence Ward, which arrived Saturday afternoon. They were present at the Japanese Consulate General this morning paying their respect to their Consul General and, in the meantime, receiving instructions as to their future movements.

The ordeal through which the unfortunate men passed was frightful. They had given up all hope of being rescued and were simply waiting for the time to die, when a ship was seen in the distance late in the afternoon. They took their clothes and used them as flags, attaching them to long poles in order to attract the attention of those on the ship. Then they sat up all night, watching with mingled hope and despair for some token that their signals of distress had been seen. When dawn broke their joy knew no bounds, the vessel was headed toward them.

When picked up, the men had very little clothing left. Captain Plitz had sympathy for them and gave them their clothes, which they are still wearing.

Asanoma, the best-educated man of the three, was given a white suit by one of the officials at Midway. He is looking well, considering his experience, and is glad to be here in Honolulu, where he will be able to get in communication with his folks at home.

He said today that he was a student in a musical college in Tokio, and secured a job on the Kioho Mar.
